Daily Fashion Hints From VOGUE

DAYTIME COSTUME.
The truth of the adage that a thing is never truly appreciated until it threatens to leave is proved by the steadfast loyalty with which smart women cling to the chemise frock in its of continued vogue, there is an undeniable springing of the straight-lined chemise frock in all the newer collections, and for the daytime costume for street wear they are still the most prominent type. The model illustrated above is of the comfortable, slip-on kind, and is much enhanced by clever slashes and a discreet use of plaited native embroidery in red and orange worsted.

VICE-PRES. COOLIDGE BADLY SHAKEN UP IN PLATFORM COLLAPSE

Falls, Seated in Chair, and Lands "Right Side Up," Still Sitting in It.

(By United Press.)

WILLIAMSBURG, MASS., Sept. 4.—Vice-President Calvin Coolidge and a dozen other men were shaken up when the speakers' platform at the 150th anniversary exercises of this town collapsed today.

A few minutes later the Vice-President mounted a new platform, hastily put together from railroad ties and planks, and delivered his address, apparently none the worse for the fall.

Judge Arthur Irwin, of Northampton, was the only man injured. He was badly shaken up and bruised, requiring the services of a physician. Coolidge was seated at the time of the accident. He fell, with his chair, and landed right side up, still sitting in it.

Mrs. Coolidge, sitting in an automobile near the platform, stifled a scream as the edifice went down. She jumped from the car and ran to her husband's side. Cool, calm and collected, the Vice-President addressed his hat and, with Mrs. Coolidge's assistance, stepped from the wreckage.

American Legion members from Northampton cleared away the debris. Taking a pile of railroad ties in a field nearby, they erected another platform, floored it with planks, and the exercises were resumed.

A crowd of 7,000 persons saw the Vice-President go down.

PROHIBITION INEFFECTIVE IN LARGER CITIES OF U. S.

Reorganization of Enforcement Staffs to Be Undertaken Immediately.

METHODS TO UNDERGO CHANGE

Virtual Acknowledgment of Failure of Dry Enforcement Is Made by Treasury Department Officials. Haynes to Look Over New York Situation.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Virtual acknowledgment that prohibition enforcement has not been effective in the larger cities of the East and Middle West was given by Treasury Department officials yesterday when it was made known that reorganization of the enforcement staffs and methods in more than a dozen cities is to be undertaken immediately by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Mr. Haynes will go to New York next Tuesday with a view to looking over the situation in the Metropolis. He will be accompanied by several enforcement officials, who are to study the problem of enforcement in the city. Before his return to Washington, he will visit Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Ohio, and possibly Chicago. A more extensive tour of cities where prohibition is regarded as difficult will be made later, it is understood.

It is more than likely Mr. Haynes will be accompanied by several enforcement officials, who are to study the problem of enforcement in the city. Before his return to Washington, he will visit Philadelphia, Boston, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Columbus, Ohio, and possibly Chicago. A more extensive tour of cities where prohibition is regarded as difficult will be made later, it is understood.

FOUR DOCTORS GAVE HER UP

Through a Neighbor's Advice This Woman Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Kenosha, Wis.—"I suffered with a female trouble and at last was in bed for six weeks with the most terrible pain. I called it inflammation of the bowels. Four of them said I could not live. A neighbor told me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it helped me from the start. When the doctor came I told him what I had taken and he said 'Throw my medicine away and keep on with the Pinkham medicine.' I did and I cured me. If more women would take your medicine they would not suffer so. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to lots of people and they have been satisfied."—Mrs. MARY KRAPSTOCK, 270 Wisconsin St., Kenosha, Wis.

When a woman is beset with such symptoms as irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, a displacement, backache, headaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness or the "blues," she should treat the cause of such conditions by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

HOWE'S CIRCUS WILL ADD TO ACTIVITIES OF HOLIDAY

Street Parade Will Leave Show Grounds, at Boulevard and Broad, This Morning at 10 o'Clock Over the Usual Route.

The hooping, tooting calloppes, the grinning clowns, the dappled horses, the jungle beasts and the pretty ladies in spangles are with us today for parade and for two performances under the big top at Broad and Boulevard. For Howe's great London circus, which has been in the city for the show lot Sunday adds to the many attractions of Labor Day—adds pretty much of everything zoological and all that we may expect to see in three rings, a steel wild animal arena and a hippodrome track.

The street parade, which will leave the grounds at 10 A. M., will proceed with all cages and dens open to view, south on Boulevard to Monument, east on Monument to Grace, east on Fifth, north on Fifth to Grace, east on Grace to Ninth, north on Ninth to Capitol, east on Capitol to Eleventh, north on Eleventh to Broad, and west on Broad to the lot. There will be five bands, buglers, bagpipers and calloppes to fill the air with circus day lilt, while hundreds of handsome horses and sleek, performing wild animals will add to the appeal of the lengthy and spick-and-span review.

The Howe's great London performance, opening at 2 and 8 P. M., will feature many wild animal acts, including polar bears, Bengal tigers, riding lions, leopards, pumas, jaguars, zebras, dromedaries and chimpanzees. Louis Roth, famous trainer, and corps of wild animal men, will direct these animal acts. Thrillers, riding acts, starring Rose Walcott, Winnie Sweeney, John Walcott and the Rays; wire dancing acts, featuring little Paulina Knight, the tiny Pavlova of the aerial steel thread, and the Knight family; equestrian acts, starring Nettie Corron, celebrated equestrienne, and Hazel Hickey, the white top diva; acrobatic acts, aerial acts, novelty acts, gymnastic acts, equilibristic acts and hippodrome acts will contribute to the white top holiday.

Richmond people journeyed to the circus lot in great numbers Sunday afternoon. The demand to see "Virginia," "Richmond," "Washington," and "Lee" the lion cub born Saturday, became so great that Louis Roth, head trainer, took down the sideboards to their care and let the youngsters romp for the visitors.

The cookhouse, where 700 people were given Sunday dinner; the horse tents, where 400 beautiful draft and ring horses were fed and groomed; the points of interest for the crowds, while the smithy and carpenter shop work must be done on Sundays, interested hundreds of sightseers. Much attention was paid to "Little Vic," the baby hippopotamus, who dined royally on mint and choice delicacies. The Howe elephants, which spent the greater part of the afternoon about the water tanks, and yanking the tall big top poles into place, were well rewarded by a lunch of youngsters, who managed somewhere to secure an assortment of peanuts. Owners of country homes, who had been purloined from one of the show's candy stand wagons, but as the peanuts were fed to the "bunk," there was no real complaint in the matter. It was all a part of the white top outing.

THEATERGOERS DEMAND GOOD SHOWS FOR MONEY

Broadway Is Not the Same Place That It Used to Be When Dollars Were Freely Poured Out on Any Kind of Amusement.

(By United News.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—All is very definitely not gold that glitters on Broadway this season.

To the casual visitor Broadway still presents the same golden front it has worn so profitably for the last four years. Apparently, and apparently, the theaters and the cafes are still the welcoming salons for the golden streams of wealth that have been emptying there since 1917.

The fact is that what the rest of the country has known for over a year, this being that the old gay place ain't what she used to be, and that this same place is now going back to the haphazard life of the pre-war days when a dollar could buy its way down with loud cries of pain and only when rewarded by some thing worth every pinched nickel represented by that dollar.

Broadway today is rapidly approaching the status of one of the old boom towns of the West which flared into hysterical prosperity for a season and then dropped back to the dead level of their normal dullness. The extensive expansion of the theatrical regions of Broadway these days can still find his way around the streets without using a miner's lamp, but if he chances to stroll into about 75 per cent of the theaters now open, he will have considerable trouble finding enough playmates there to make up a decent sized party.

Two years ago a sign reading "Show Inside," was enough to fill any theater in New York. Two years ago the New York theaters were frequently filled with playgoers who didn't know what the name of the show was before they got a program. But today, this same playgoer and all his family are carefully inspecting all the dramatic goods put up for their inspection by the Broadway window dressers, and these goods have to show very good signs of being worth the $3 demanded before a sale is made. Only a small percentage of these goods this year are considered by the playgoers to be all giggles and a laugh wide.

At this time of the year New York is filled with buyers from all over the country. If these buyers have butting noses in the New York theaters, they are frequently pushed out by the customers in their territory are similarly blessed. Looking forward to a successful business year, these buyers loose the strings of their purses while they are in New York. Broadway and its surrounding pleasure streets are pleasantly showered with the contents.

When the new theatrical season with a rush it generally means that

Growing Demand for Bright-Hued Umbrellas

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Bright-hued umbrellas are twice as much in demand as a year ago, manufacturers declare. They look especially pretty for the day when street crowds in rainy weather will be as vivid as those who sally forth with cheerful garb on fair days.

Rainy days in New York this summer have not presented such a dull picture on the streets as in the past, when the black umbrellas were the only kind to be seen. The working girls, who must go into the business thoroughfares in any weather, have developed a penchant for umbrellas of purple, brown, orange and particularly blue, and others have taken up this cheerful challenge to the darker side of nature.

RICHMONDERS READY FOR GREAT LABOR DAY

In some of the fun at the Fair Grounds, so well have the programs been drawn that it is easy to adjust one's self and be able to draw pleasure from many angles. The movies will start going at 11 o'clock and keep it up until 11 o'clock tonight.

The only regrettable thing in connection with the holiday is the forecast given by the Weather Bureau that "showers and thunderstorms may be expected." George Wilcox announces that, notwithstanding this prognostication, the celebration at the Fair Grounds will take place rain or shine. And he doesn't care much if, on account of the farmer, it does rain.

The big event of the day will, of course, be the celebration at the State Fair Grounds, under the auspices of the Central Trades and Labor Council. Numerous features will mark this festival, which will begin with the raising of his hand by handmaster Moses Stein at 12 o'clock. There will be races of every character, athletic events, dancing, all crowned by an old-fashioned baby show.

The theaters will open their doors for the season, first-class attractions being offered at the Academy, where "Bringing Up Father in Wall Street" will present many laughs and funny situations, while the Lyric will start its regular season with a line of tip-toppers. All the movies will present high-class feature films, and the famous Howe-Van Amburg circus will spread its tents on upper Broad Street.

Baseball fans will have two chances to exercise their voices—one at 10 o'clock this morning, the other at the usual hour this afternoon. According to the local management, Tarboro will be an easy victim at both games.

Family parties will be held at the suburban parks—Forest Hill, Lakeside and Byrd Park—while at Varina School, Highland Springs and Fair Oaks the penance will make merry. Many citizens took advantage of the excursion rates on the railroad, and will spend Labor Day in Washington and at the seashore.

Members of the Rotary Club, accompanied by many old veterans at Lee Camp Home, will take an all-day trip over the battlefields to the north and east of Richmond.

City, State and Federal offices will be as a deserted village today. Holiday hours will be observed at the post-office, but all other offices in the Federal Building will be closed. The Capitol and Library Buildings will be still and quiet. Justice John Ingram will hold forth as usual, but every office in the City Hall will be closed early in the day. The departments will be closed all day, while the court clerks will lock their doors at noon, except in the case of Clerk Walter Christian, who issues marriage licenses. He will keep open house until 2 o'clock.

CORRECTION!

The Better Business Bureau has called our attention to the following statements in our recent advertising of our August fur sale:

1. An advertisement of Plain Seal or Marmot Coats at $95.00; the words "plain seal" should have read "near seal."
2. An advertisement of a short coat in Near Seal, Sealine and Hudson Seal at $85.00. This should have been advertised in Near Seal and Sealine only.
3. A statement in our advertised guarantee to the effect that every coat offered in our August fur sale is called by the actual name of the animal pelt from which it is made. The furs offered in this sale were described by trade names which are customarily used in the fur trade.

Prices Are Decidedly Lower

NOW that the matter of Autumn clothes is thrusting itself upon the attention of returning vacationists, the old question of prices looms up again.

But this time it admits of no discussion. There is no longer ground for surmise or debate. Prices are decidedly lower than last season—and more than that, they are at a level we may call normal, which permits of buying with confidence and satisfaction.

Women who bought either a Fall Suit or Tricotine Dress last year are buying both a Suit and a Dress this season. This condition holds true in all lines. The public has assuredly come to the conclusion that price is no longer a barrier to buying.
